PREFACE

In 1978, the National Agricultural Library introduced a publication series entitled "Bibliographies and Literature of Agriculture," with its first product being a Bibliography of Agricultural Bibliographies, 1977, as BLA-1.

This volume, Bibliography of Agricultural Bibliographies, 1978-82, is an update of BLA-1. The content of the present update consists of bibliographies and review articles indexed by the Library during those years. All items are in English and carry publication dates between 1975 and 1982. Generally, those items dated 1975 or 1976 represent foreign publications, since the distribution of such items to foreign countries is often delayed. U.S. items are generally 1977-82, although a few outstanding titles from 1976 are included.

Section headings or category codes from AGRICOLA have been converted to the latest equivalent code. Within each section the citations are arranged alphabetically by title. A personal author index appears following the categorized citations.

Any comments or questions may be forwarded to the compiler:

DOCUMENT DELIVERY SERVICES TO INDIVIDUALS

The National Agricultural Library (NAL) has a unique responsibility to attempt to supply copies of agricultural publications not found elsewhere. Filling requests for materials readily available from other sources would divert its resources and diminish its ability to serve as a national source for agricultural and agriculturally related publications. Therefore, NAL should be viewed as a library of last resort and individuals should submit requests first to local or state sources prior to sending to NAL. Possible sources are the land-grant university or other large research libraries within a state. If the needed publications are not available from these sources, the requests may be submitted to NAL with a statement indicating their non-availability.

Individuals in other countries should submit requests through major university, national or provincial institutions.

LOAN SERVICE — Materials in the collection are loaned only to other libraries. Requests for loans should be made through local public, academic or special libraries.

The following materials are not available for loan: serials (except USDA serials); rare, reference, and reserve books; microforms; and proceedings of conferences or symposiums. Photocopy or microform of non-circulating publications may be purchased as described below.

PHOTODUPLICATION SERVICE — Use "USDA Request for Photocopying" (form LF-607) which may be requested in advance from our Library. A separate form should be submitted for each article or item requested. Requests should be as complete as possible with a minimum of abbreviation. The source of the citation should be given. If the citation is from an NAL database (CAIN/AGRICOLA, Bibliography of Agriculture, or the NAL catalog) and the call number is given, that call number should be listed in the proper block on the request form. Willingness to pay charges should be indicated on the form. Indicate compliance with copyright law or include a statement that the article is for research purposes only. Requests cannot be processed without these statements.

Rates are:

Electrostatic copy, microfilm and microfiche —

$ 5.00 for the first 10 pages or fraction copied from a single article or publication.

$ 3.00 for each additional 10 pages or fraction.

Duplication of NAL-owned microfilm — $ 10.00 per reel.

Duplication of NAL-owned microfiche — $ 5.00 for the first fiche and $.50 for each additional fiche.

Billing — Fees include postage and handling, and are subject to change. Invoices are issued quarterly by the National Technical Information Service (NTIS), 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, VA 22161. Requesters are encouraged to establish deposit accounts with NTIS.

DO NOT SEND PREPAYMENT.

SEND REQUESTS TO — USDA, National Agricultural Library, Lending Branch, ILL, Beltsville, Maryland 20705. Questions concerning these services may be made by correspondence to Head, Lending Branch or by telephoning (301) 344-3755.

NOTE —

- Once requests have been accepted and processing has begun, requests cannot be cancelled. The appropriate charge for filling requests will be applied.

DOCUMENT DELIVERY SERVICES AVAILABLE to Libraries and Other Information Centers and Commercial Organizations

The National Agricultural Library (NAL) accepts requests from libraries and other organizations in accordance with the national and international interlibrary loan code and guidelines. In its national role, NAL has a unique responsibility to attempt to supply copies of agricultural publications not found elsewhere. Filling requests for materials readily available from other sources would divert its resources and diminish its ability to serve as a national source for agricultural and agriculturally related publications. Therefore, NAL should be viewed as a library of last resort. Requestors should submit requests first to State/region/network sources prior to sending to NAL. Within the United States, possible sources are the land-grant university or other large research libraries within a state. Requesters in other countries should first try major university, national or provincial institutions. If the needed publications are not available from these sources, the requests may be submitted to NAL with a statement indicating their non-availability.

- Requests may be submitted on the American Library or the International Library interlibrary request form, by TWX (710-828-0506) or via the OCLC interlibrary loan subsystem. Our OCLC symbol is AGL, and we request that the symbol be entered twice. The complete name of the person authorizing the request is to appear on each form.
- The standard bibliographic source which lists the title as owned by NAL should be noted on each request. Requests for periodical articles should be verified. If verification is not possible, indicate the sources searched and give the source of the citation requested. Those requests which are verified or for which the citation source has been given receive a more thorough search. Unverified requests may be returned. If the citation is from an NAL database (CAIN/AGRICOLA, Bibliography of Agriculture, or the NAL catalog) and the call number is given, this call number should be included on the request.

LOAN SERVICE — Monographs published in the United States or abroad may be lent to U.S. libraries. Monographs published in the U.S. may be lent to libraries in other countries. The loan period is one month unless a shorter period is indicated on the due slip. The loan may be renewed for an additional month if there is no reserve request. The renewal request should be received prior to the due date. The borrowing library is responsible from the time of dispatch for any loss or damage incurred.

The following materials are not available for loan: serials (except for USDA serials), rare reference and reserve books microforms, and proceedings of conferences or symposiums. Photocopy or microform of the non-circulating publications will be supplied automatically as described below if the requesting organization indicates that this is acceptable on the loan request form.

PHOTODUPLICATION SERVICE — A separate completed interlibrary form should be submitted for each article requested. Willingness to pay charges should be indicated on the form. Indicate compliance with copyright law or include a statement that the article is for research purposes only. Requests cannot be processed without these statements.

Rates are:

Electrostatic copy, microfilm and microfiche --

$ 5.00 for the first 10 pages or fraction copied from a single article or publication.
$ 3.00 for each additional 10 pages or fraction.

Duplication of NAL-owned microfilm -- $ 10.00 per reel.

Duplication of NAL-owned microfiche -- $.50 for the first fiche and $.50 for each additional fiche.

Billing — Fees include postage and handling, and are subject to change. Invoices are issued quarterly by the National Technical Information Service (NTIS), 5285 Port Royal Road, Springfield, VA 22161. Requesters are encouraged to establish deposit accounts with NTIS.

The cotton harvester in retrospect: labor displacement or replacement.

Peterson, W. Kislev, Y. St. Paul, Minn., The Department. Extract: In recent economics literature the prevailing view seems to be that new mechanical technology has displaced or forced labor out of agriculture. The mechanization of cotton harvesting is viewed by many as one of the clearest examples of labor push, particularly in the Southern States. We propose to use the mechanical cotton harvester as a test of the alternative hypothesis; namely, that labor exit was mainly due to increased real wages outside of agriculture and that machines were adopted in response to a reduction in labor supply. The period of the analysis is 1949-1964. Staff paper P - University of Minnesota, Dept. of Agricultural and Applied Economics. Sept 1981. Sept 1981. (P81-25). 15 p. 4 ref. Qualitative stability of matrices and economic theory: a survey article.

 Quirk, J. Bozeman, Mont., The Department. Extract: The present survey is restricted to results that have appeared in the literature on economic theory, and to closely related
- mathematical developments. No attempt has been made to survey the entire literature dealing with qualitative stability in all of its ramifications. However, within the limited scope of the paper, an attempt has been made to identify and summarize the major results that have been obtained over the recent past that relate to qualitative stability of matrices and applications of qualitative stability to economic models. The approach taken in the paper is relatively informal. Proofs of propositions are omitted, and the emphasis is on the intuitive meaning of assumptions and results rather than upon mathematical formalism. Moreover, most of the emphasis in the paper is placed on qualitative stability concepts that are particularly relevant to the classical economic models. A critique of exchange rate treatment in agricultural trade models.

Chambers, R.G. Just, R.E. Lexington, Ky., American Agricultural Economics Association. Extract: The recent theoretical and empirical literature on the role of exchange rates in agricultural prices and trade is reviewed. Specifically, alternative specifications of the exchange rate in excess demand functions are considered. Results show that the specification most common in recent theoretical and empirical work is unnecessarily restrictive and may bias the resulting analysis. Several less restrictive specifications for empirical research are suggested. American journal of agricultural economics. May 1979. v. 61 (2). 249-257. 19 ref. (NAL Call No.: 280.8 J822).

Food and agricultural marketing in developing countries: an annotated bibliography of doctoral research in the social sciences, 1969-79.

Riley, P. Weber, M.T. East Lansing, Mich., The Department. Abstract: This compilation includes citations from Dissertation Abstracts International (DAI), Volumes 31-39 (July 1970 to June 1979), a program in which most major U.S. and Canadian universities participate. Doctoral research can be a key source of new information and insights into building a better research approach to marketing problem-solving. This bibliography seeks to improve awareness of this resource by organizing for reference use doctoral research done in disciplines dealing with administrative, cultural, economic, managerial, social, spatial, and other dimensions of marketing. Recent progress in the consideration of flavoring ingredients under the food additives amendment. 12. GRAS substances.
 Oser, Bernard L. Ford, Richard A. Chicago, Institute of Food Technologists. Abstract: The Flavor and Extract Manufacturers' Association (FEMA) encourages manufacturers to submit new substances intended for use in flavors, or increased uses for previously listed substances, to an independent panel to evaluate the GRAS (Generally Recognized as Safe) status. Substances and their maximum use levels in various food categories as most recently reported to the panel and determined to be GRAS are listed to provide manufacturers with guidelines for usage. If increased usage (over the GRAS level indicated) is planned, the panel should review the proposed new usage for GRAS status. An alphabetical cross reference list of GRAS primary names and synonyms is included. Food technology. July 1979. v. 33 (7). p. 65-73. charts. 13 ref.

Irrigation in humid regions - an annotated interdisciplinary bibliography.

Bajwa, R.S. Washington, D.C., The Service. Extract: This bibliography identifies some of the important literature on the economic and related aspects of irrigation, with special but not exclusive reference to the humid regions of the eastern United States. The bibliography is categorized under three main headings: on-farm irrigation planning; state, regional, geographic, and economic assessments; and national irrigation and selected policy assessments. To account for distinctive climatic variations in irrigated cropland patterns in the Eastern States, four specific agricultural areas are given intensive treatment, including Florida, the Delmarva Peninsula, southern New Jersey, and Minnesota. A review and an annotated bibliography of studies regarding irrigation institutions, management and investment in Asia.

Ellingson, D. Easter, K.W. St. Paul, The Department. Extract: This paper contains an annotated bibliography of studies pertaining to the problems associated with irrigation project development and implementation in South and Southeast Asia. In the first section of the text methods of water allocation are approached at three levels: 1) water source allocation, 2) transmission allocation, and 3) farm allocation. The second section presents institutional and managerial arrangements for irrigation projects at three levels: 1) national institutions involved with water resources, 2) institutions involved with the distribution of water, and 3) institutions involved with the distribution of irrigation benefits. The last section of the paper deals with alternative investments in irrigation development where the discussion will be devoted to two questions: (1) expansion vs. intensification, and (2) large projects vs. small projects. Compilation of odor and taste threshold values data / sponsored by Committee E-18 on Sensory Evaluation of Materials and Products, American Society for Testing and Materials ; edited by F. A. Fazzalari.

American Society for Testing and Materials ~ Committee E-18 on Sensory Evaluation of Materials and Products. Fazzalari, F. A. Philadelphia The Society c1978. Abstract: Reference data on published threshold values of odor and taste substances are compiled to assist in improving food safety, air, and water quality. The compiled data are arranged under 6 major tabular formats which cover: an alphabetical listing of chemicals, including experimental and bibliographic data; an alphabetical listing of the chemicals by an assigned code number used for a given chemical throughout all 6 tabular formats; the numerical chemical code number sequence listed by increasing number; an empirical chemical formula list cross-referenced to chemical code numbers; a Wiswesser line notation permutation; and an alphabetical list of technical journals, with the specific chemicals (and their code numbers) reported in each journal listed under the name. Data on 2,626 chemicals in 66 journals, personal communications, books, monographs and papers, and other sources are included. (wz). Includes index. 497 p. ; 29 cm. -. Source book of flavors / Henry B. Heath. Heath, Henry B. Westport, Conn. AVI Pub. Co. c1981. Abstract: Basic information is provided for food technologists, flavor chemists, and other food-related professionals, covering major flavor-allied topics; these include: the flavor industry; the flavor chemist; flavor research; flavor chemistry; food colorants; flavor manufacturing methods; application of flavor quality assurance; flavor legislation in the US and abroad; worldwide labeling regulations; and toxicology and consumer safety. Available data are provided on: natural flavoring materials (e.g., alliaceous and fruit flavors, herbs, spices, essential oils); 325 plant materials, principal essential oils, and organic chemicals used in flavorings; synthetic flavors; aromatics; GRAS flavorings; and 350 flavor formulations. A bibliography on flavoring materials which occur naturally or as a result of processing is included. The legalized exemption of certain food additives (including flavoring additives) from US tolerance requirements is highlighted separately. Protein food supplements : recent advances / edited by M.A. Maltz.
Maltz, M. A. Park Ridge, N.J. Noyes Data Corp. 1981. Abstract: A commercially oriented review of recent developments in the field of protein food supplements is presented. Information is made available from the U.S. patent literature; most of the patents issued on protein food supplements are included in the review. A number of technical possibilities available are described; these may be developed into profitable areas of research and development. Patents are categorized into the following areas: biochemical methods of protein production; soybean processing; proteins isolated from other seeds; protein from grains including wheat, corn, and oats; proteins derived from alfalfa and other leafy plants; protein products of dairy origin; protein products of animal origin; and applications. Criteria for evaluation of the health aspects of using flavoring substances as food ingredients / FASEB.
Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology ~ Life Sciences Research Office. Bethesda, Md. FASEB 1976. Abstract: In 1974 the FDA required more critical safety evaluation of food ingredients classifiable as "Generally Recognized as Safe" (GRAS). Criteria for evaluating the safety status of flavoring substances were developed for the FDA Bureau of Foods. A history of the regulatory control of food flavoring agents reviews the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act, the GRAS concept and the Flavor Extract Manufacturers' response. Position statements outline procedures for examining the health effects of flavoring additives. This 3-level evaluation process considers: 1) basic information on chemical and physical properties, manner and extent of use, and toxicological and human studies; 2) evidence of adverse health effects; and 3) acute oral and subchronic toxicity data, and in vitro mutagen and carcinogen testing. Value judgments based on the adequacy of data determine whether further testing is needed for an evaluation opinion--clearance or withdrawal of the flavoring agent. Priorities for testing of flavorings, seasonings and related substances depend on suspected toxic effects, extent of use in foods and availability of data. 121 leaves. Vegetarianism : an annotated bibliography / by Judith C. Dyer.
Dyer, Judith C., 1947. Metuchen, N.J.
Scarecrow Press 1982. Abstract: An annotated bibliography on vegetarianism, includes books, periodicals, pamphlets, government documents, letters to editors, articles, and audiovisuals. The bibliography is arranged by date and then by subject; including ethical or medical concerns, and requirements of special groups. The term vegetarianism, first used in the early 1840's, applies to flesh-abstainers. There are 5 classes of vegetarians: lacto-ovo (consumes both milk and eggs); lacto-only; ovo-only; vegans (diet derived solely from plant kingdom); and fruitarians (diet consists of only fruit, nuts, grains and those parts of the plant that are cast off or dropped from the plant, and do not involve destruction of the plant itself). (kbc). Includes indexes. xi.

Aging and nutrition / SNE.
Society for Nutrition Education.
Berkeley, Calif. Society for Nutrition Education 1980. Abstract: A selected bibliography of printed and audiovisual materials on nutrition and aging was compiled for use by persons working with the elderly. Each item has been evaluated by a qualified nutritionist; most items are annotated. The materials cover aspects of nutrition relevant to the needs of the elderly: cooking in small amounts, buying food economically, using special diets, and coping with disease or disability. Home health services, congregate meal programs, care of elderly patients, community involvement, and nutrition education curriculum development are just a few of the areas covered. (cj). Includes index. 16 p. -. (NAL Call No.: Z5814.F7S622 1980 F&N E-3692).

Annotated bibliography for students, parents, educators, administrators of preschool children in nutrition education / Minneapolis Public Schools.
Minneapolis Public Schools ~ Special Education Service Center. Minneapolis Minneapolis Public Schools 1980. Abstract: Information compiled as the bibliographic component of the USDA Nutrition Demonstration Project is intended for use by anyone interested or involved in the development and nutrition of young children, including teachers, day care personnel, administrators, education students, food service personnel, and parents. The materials are presented in 8 categories, including early childhood development, curricula for preschool and day care, nutrition information, management and operation of child care food service, teaching and administration techniques, food and nutrition books for children, and newsletters. Annotations identify the type of material, level of application and the emphases of the various sources. 16 leaves. -. (NAL Call No.: Z5776.N8M52 F&N E-3606).

An annotated bibliography, nutrition education resources / A. Crisp (and) B. Cale.
Crisp, Ann. Cale, Barbara. Corvallis Oregon St. U. 1975. Abstract: An annotated bibliography of audiovisual aids, books, games, pamphlets, teaching plans, an other materials available as of spring 1975 for nutrition education programs is presented. The bibliography was prepared to assist persons working with the Nutrition Program for the Elderly. The resources are organized into five color-coded sections; an alphabetical, annotated list of all materials by title; a subject index; a media index; and address index; and an alphabetical list of additional resources including national organizations and periodicals. The subject and media indexes are coded to indicate the appropriateness of the material for all adults, the elderly, nutrition educators, or site personnel. 150 p. -. Audiovisual resources for nutrition education.
Lyghtner-Kirchhofer, Ardine. Denver, American School Food Service Association. Abstract: Thirty-six films, filmstrips, slides, and filmstrip cassette units on nutrition education are listed in three different categories: general and popular, elementary, and intermediate/secondary. Sample titles include: "Food labeling, understanding what you eat," "Winnie the Pooh: nutrition and you," "Food to grow on: nutrition from newborn through teens," and "The real talking, singing action movie about nutrition." Audiovisual producers of the citations range from the National Dairy Council to Tupperware Educational Services. School foodservice research review. Summer 1979. v. 3 (2). p. 97-100. Audiovisual resources in food and nutrition / United States. Dept. of Agriculture.
National Agricultural Library ~ Food and Nutrition Information and Education Resources Center. Phoenix, AZ. Oryx Press 1979. Abstract: Audiovisual materials covering food, human nutrition and food service management are listed in an annotated index taken from the USDA's Food and Nutrition Information and Education Resources Center, 1973-1978 acquisitions. The subjects and treatments range from children's materials to sophisticated professional instructional tools. The audiovisual aids include slides, filmstrips, motion pictures, audiocassettes, film loops, posters, charts, games and transparencies. The index is divided into five sections: main entry section (including title, accession number, author, publisher, descriptor terms, and informative abstract) and then author, title, media and subject indices.

Audiovisuals for nutrition education / SNE.
Society for Nutrition Education.
Berkeley, CA. SNE 1979. Abstract: A bibliography of audiovisual materials published from 1974-78 for use by nutrition educators has been prepared by the National Nutrition Education Clearing House in its Nutrition Education Resources Series. More than 250 AV references are included in 8 subject areas: general nutrition; life cycle; diet, health and disease; health and athletics; foods; food preparation and service; food habits and preferences; and food economics and concerns. Each item was reviewed by a nutrition education specialist in the Journal of Nutrition Education and this review follows source, cost and availability information describing each bibliographic citation. Included in the description is a statement of the level of intended audience and the type of audiovisual material. Within each subject area, titles are grouped by age and grade level of audience. The bibliography is also indexed by title; foreign language titles are indexed separately. Includes index. 37 p. : 28 cm. - . (NAL Call No.: Z5814.V8R6 1979 E-3455).

Elementary teaching materials and references / SNE.

Society for Nutrition Education.
Berkeley, CA. SNE 1979. Abstract: An annotated bibliography, presented by the Society for Nutrition Education Resource Center in its Nutrition Education Resource Series, provides a selected review of educational materials and teacher references for persons who teach nutrition to elementary students. Resources include books, pamphlets, leaflets, audiovisuals, curriculum guides and periodical articles from government agencies, learning institutions and professional associations. The subject matter of each bibliographic citation is briefly described, either by an annotation or key word descriptors, and each item has been reviewed by a nutritionist. A citation of their review in the Journal of Nutrition Education is given for materials published after 1974. Cost and ordering information is given for some references. An index of titles and a Spanish language materials index are also included. Includes index. 36 p. - . (NAL Call No.: Z5814.F7S3 1979 F&N E-3456).

Food and nutrition bibliography : compiled from data provided by the National Agricultural Library, U.S. Department of Agriculture / USDA.

Phoenix, Ariz. Oryx Press 1980. Abstract: Printed and audiovisual materials on foods, human nutrition, food service management, nutrition education and research, food technology, and cooking, are included in a bibliography from USDA's Food and Nutrition Information Center. The levels of material range from simple children's games and books to highly technical professional manuals and texts. The main entry section presents materials acquired in 1978, and provides publishing information, descriptor terms, and informative abstracts. Indexes are divided by author, title, media, and subject. (cj). Includes index ~This publication represents the Food and Nutrition Information and Educational Materials Center's cataloged and indexed acquisitions from May through December, 1978. Original catalog and its 8 supplements bear title Catalog, Food and Nutrition Information and Educational Materials Center, and cover the period from April, 1971 through April, 1978. 345 p. Food, nutrition and the disabled, an annotated bibliography / Alison Furse and Elyse Levine.

Furse, Alison.; Levine, Elyse. Toronto (Canada) Ryerson Polytechnical Institute Library 1981. Abstract: A selected list of nutrition resource materials is provided for professionals, parents, and volunteers who work with physically and mentally handicapped people. Materials and sources of information on general nutrition, feeding techniques for specific disabilities, nutrition education methods for the disabled, home management, available equipment, and equipment suppliers are described. Printed materials are available on general topics--child care, home making, nutrition needs, and eating skills and behavior. Cookbooks for children and adults are listed. Audiovisual materials illustrate topics such as kitchen planning and food preparation methods for various disabilities, and behavior modification techniques to aid in acquiring self-help skills. Canadian and U.S. organizations providing support services and further information are included. (cj). 82 p. (NAL Call No.: Z5776.F7F67 F&N E-3699).

Nutrition information resources for professionals / SNE.

Society for Nutrition Education. Berkeley Society for Nutrition Education 1979. Abstract: The myriad nutrition information resources available to professionals include books, periodicals, and organizations. Guidelines for evaluating books on the basis of the author's qualifications and book reviews are described. Reliable nutrition information may also be obtained from local health departments and universities. The publications and addresses of those government agencies and private organizations which supply such information are included. Annotated lists of books as well as periodicals and pamphlets that contain nutrition information are presented. Rev. 4/79. 15 p. (NAL Call No.: Z5776.N8S62 1979 F&N C-2150).

Nutrition information resources for the whole family / SNE.

Society for Nutrition Education. Berkeley Society for Nutrition Education 1979. Abstract: Private persons may avail themselves of a variety of nutrition information resources, ranging from books to voluntary health organizations. Guidelines for evaluating books on the basis of book reviews and the author's qualifications are described. Local health departments, companies, and hospitals can provide nutrition information. Annotated book lists and the names of recommended periodicals and pamphlets are included. The addresses and publications of public agencies and private organizations which supply nutrition information are also presented. Rev. Apr. 1979. 11 p. (NAL Call No.: Z5776.N8S6 1979 F&N C-2149).

Secondary nutrition education materials and references / SNE.

Society for Nutrition Education. Berkeley, Calif. Society for Nutrition Education 1981. Abstract: A selected bibliography of educational materials for secondary school nutrition teachers includes books, classroom activity packages, pamphlets, journal articles, and audiovisuals. All materials are described in short abstracts and evaluated by qualified nutritionists. An index lists materials available in Spanish. (cj). Includes index. 33 p. - (NAL Call No.: Z5814.F7S63 1981 F&N E-3691).

A selected annotated bibliography on nutrition education and health-related materials for Spanish-speaking Americans / C. Wilson.

Wilson, Christine S. Berkeley, Ca. SNE 1972. Abstract: A comprehensive listing of various materials in Spanish designed to be used in nutrition education, consumer-oriented, and health related work is presented. Materials on shopping and best uses of money are included, since many Spanish-speaking Americans have low incomes. Materials designed for use of professionals who work with these populations are listed also. Since language usage differs with the speaker's place of origin, this information is provided to help select publications most suitable for a particular group. 89 1. 1152

A Selected annotated bibliography on the impact of mal- and undernutrition on the learning situation 1965-1978 / compiled by Sven Amcoff.

Amcoff, Sven. (Paris) UNESCO 1977. Abstract: Growing emphasis on education places greater importance on understanding the relationship between chronic undernutrition or malnutrition and learning ability. While few studies directly address the effects of early malnutrition and school performance, considerable material is available on permanent or reversible effects on brain development, behavioral disturbances, mental development, and learning ability. The ecology of malnutrition covers studies on ethnic, cultural, and economic factors of child development from all parts of the globe. Studies on behavioral disturbances focus on brain damage, motor behavior, psychological development, depression, sleep changes, etc. Other references cover growth retardation, compensatory education, nutrition education, prevalence of malnutrition, and social causes and implications of world food problems. I am what I eat : nutrition education in the classroom : a guide for teachers, grades K-8.

Natick, Mass. Natick Public Schools 1981. Abstract: A curriculum guide developed to help school teachers, nurses and food service personnel integrates nutrition education into the existing curriculum and food service program. Nutrition education activities are listed according to academic subjects (language arts, mathematics, social studies, health and science, art and physical education) and resources to use and persons to involve in each are suggested. Activities are grouped K-2, Grades 3-4, 5-6, and 7-8. Additional nutrition resources and suggested field trips are listed for each age group. The appendix includes lists of storybooks, student and teacher references, cookbooks, nutrition information, consumer-produced information, activity charts and puzzles. (kbc). Energy in food service operations: Use and control.

Michael, Carol M. Denver, American School Food Service Association.

Abstract: An annotated bibliography of resources concerning energy use and management in food service facilities for supervisors and staff of food service operations is presented. Some 117 general and specific references are included in 6 subject areas: general information; energy management planning and utility cost control; food preparation equipment, refrigeration equipment; warewashing equipment and sanitation; and heating, ventilating and air conditioning (HVAC) equipment. Energy saving tips and techniques are available. Following each bibliographic citation is a brief description of its content. School foodservice research review. Winter 1980. v. 4 (1). p. 63-69. (NAL Call No.: LB3473.A1S3 F&N).

Energy use and management in foodservice systems.

McProud, Lucy M. Denver, American School Food Service Association. Abstract: An annotated bibliography, consisting of 69 items, is provided. The list is divided into 10 areas: general; food system; energy use of foodservice equipment/systems; energy management in foodservice; energy-saving suggestions in foodservice; energy use in food processing; heating, ventilation, air conditioning, and lighting; building design; solar energy; and programs. School foodservice research review. Summer 1978. v. 2 (2). p. 110-115.

Food preparation and storage equipment.

Michael, Carol M. Denver, American School Food Service Association.

Abstract: Fifty-six monograph and periodical references that pertain to food preparation and storage equipment are listed, with the citations covering aspects of design, selection, layout, operation, maintenance, sanitation and energy. The bibliography is divided into seven categories: comprehensive sources, equipment selection, maintenance and sanitation, ranges and ovens, steam equipment, fryers and griddles, and finally refrigerators and freezers. Sample references include: "School foodservice," "Economics of steam cooking," "Getting the most from fryers," and "Refrigeration: the cold facts." One or two sentence summaries accompany each citation. School foodservice research review. Summer 1979. v. 3 (2). p. 93-96. (NAL Call No.: LB3473.A1S3 F&N).

Food production management.

Roach, Faith R. Denver, American School Food Service Association. Abstract: A bibliography lists current publications, both general and specific in nature, that emphasize topics in food production management. Entries are listed in six categories: general, food quality, sanitation and safety training, work methods, production schedules, and recipe development. School foodservice research review. Winter 1979. v. 3 (1). p. 39-43. Bibliography p. 39-43.

CRC handbook of electrophoresis / editors, Lena A. Lewis, Jan J. Oppelt.
Lewis, Lena A.; (Lena Armstrong); 1910-; Oppelt, Jan J. Boca Raton, Fla. CRC Press c1980. Abstract: Basic information concerning lipoprotein molecules, their electrophoretic properties, basic principles of electrophoresis, and the techniques used in studying lipoproteins are presented in 2 volumes. Alterations in lipoprotein electrophoretic patterns as a result of genetic or disease states (coronary artery disease, liver disease, renal disease, diabetes, gout, thyroid function, hyperlipidemia, and neoplastic diseases) are described. Lipoprotein changes in undernutrition and overnutrition, and hormonal effects on serum lipoproteins are also discussed. A detailed bibliography is included in the appendix. Feeding the premature infant: Recommendations for energy and protein.
Morgan, Jane. London : John Libbey. Abstract: Relevant literature concerning nutritional requirements for oral feeding of human breast milk or artificial cow's milk formula to premature infants is reviewed, as well as theoretical requirements applicable to intravenous nutrition. Recent work on the composition of breast milk from mothers of preterm babies is discussed. This review illustrates the lack of adequate criteria for assessing postnatal development of premature infants and the associated suitability of dietary regimens. The importance of protein quality and estimates of energy and protein requirements are addressed. One major factor determining appropriate energy and protein intakes is that of digestibility, a characteristic of preterm infants that tends to improve with age. However, basic data are needed on the range of energy and protein intakes that can be recommended for appropriate-for-dates premature infants. Current technical knowledge does not allow for an accurate, routine calculation of energy requirements in the absence of reliable energy expenditure data. (wz). Human nutrition : Applied nutrition. Methods of food intake assessment--an annotated bibliography.
Krantzler, Nora J. Mullen, Barbara J.; Comstock, Elizabeth M.; Holden, Cathy A.; Schutz, Howard G.; Grivetti, Louis E.; Meiselman, Herbert L. Oakland, Calif., Society for Nutrition Education. Abstract: An annotated bibliography of 87 citations encompasses research literature on methodological issues in food intake assessment. Citations cover abstracts, articles, and conference proceedings compiled from computerized data bases. Citations are listed alphabetically by author and an abstract accompanies each citation. All entries are summarized (in a table at the article's end) by demographic characteristics, sampling protocol, and study design features. Methodologies covered include weighed intake, 7-day recall, 24-hour recall, dietary history, and observation. (kbc). Journal of nutrition education. Sept 1982. v. 14 (3). p. 108-119. charts. Cariogenicity of foods; current concepts.

Leveille, G.A. Coccodrilli, G.D.
Chicago, Institute of Food Technologists. Abstract: Much has been learned in recent years about the etiology of dental caries. Plaque, pH, animal models, and mouth simulators are methods developed to study cariogenicity; however these methods do not always give the same results. Also these methods cannot be used to predict the cariogenicity of individual foods in human. A series of reference food items has been developed recently by the Sugar
Association and Michigan State University; this list could lead to better standardization of caries

Vitamin C and cancer. Hedges, Robert E. New York, Nutrition Foundation. Abstract: Literature concerning the potential utility of vitamin C as a chemotherapeutic agent in the treatment of cancer is reviewed. The current RDA for vitamin C has been criticized both for being too high and too low. While it has been reported that full body saturation with vitamin C can be accomplished with an intake of 200 mg/day, there is no evidence that this intake level improves the health of normal persons. Studies testing the effectiveness of vitamin C in preventing or treating the common cold have yielded no conclusive results. Recent studies claimed that administration of 10g vitamin C to terminal cancer p., well-planned randomized clinical studies are needed to determine its proper role in cancer therapy and its overall risks and benefits. Educational materials for hypertensive patients : a catalog of evaluated publications / NIH.

Bethesda, MD. NIH 1977. Abstract:
Printed educational materials designed to assist health professionals in explaining various facets of hypertension to patients are listed in catalog form. In addition to providing basic information on format and availability, each entry includes a description of content, reading level, technical accuracy and audience it is intended to reach. For example, "The Low Salt Unit" is a 2-sided poster produced by National Health Systems. It lists, by food group, which foods to eat, eat sparingly, or avoid. It is of average reading level and is designed to initiate adults to treatment. It is complete, up-to-date, and accurate and is considered an excellent resource. 56

Cashing in at the checkout / S. Samtur. Samtur, Susan J. Tuleja, Tad. New York Warner Books 1980. Abstract: A new shopping technique called "supershopping" which systematizes couponing and refunding to maximize savings and collect cash and free gifts is discussed. The smart shopper should always make a list and stick to it, check for sales, be cautious about promoted bargains, and compare prices. Coupon power is achieved by scanning newspapers, magazines and specially marked packages, and then arranging them for easy reference. However, refunding is the heart of the supershopping system; refund coupons should be obtained, and consumers should keep almost every part of a package that may be requested as proof of purchase (box tops, cap liners, front panels, etc.). Shoppers should join or form couponing clubs and subscribe to refunding newsletters, and they should also watch out for perfectly usable but nonfood free gifts offers, such as t-shirts and toys. 174 p. : ill.
